* Please refer to the fund supplement and scheme particulars for a detailed description of fees and fund facts.

 The Total Expense Ratios (TERs) are the percentages of the net asset value of the class of the Financial Product incurred as expenses relating to the administration of the Financial Product. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. A current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TERs. The TER to 31.12.25 is based on data for the period from 31.12.24 to 31.12.25 and the financial year-end TER is based on data for the financial year-end to 30.06.25. Cost ratios are calculated using historical actual and/or estimated data and are provided solely as an indication/guide as to the annual expenses/costs that could be incurred. These ratios do not represent any current/actual charges or fees.

 Current asset allocation figures reflect the strategic classification of the collective investment schemes (or similar schemes) held by the Fund and do not look through to the underlying holdings of such schemes.

Market commentary

The new year opened with an extraordinary burst of geopolitical activity as the US launched strikes in Venezuela on 3 January, leading to the capture of Nicolás Maduro and the collapse of the Bolivarian leadership. Despite the severity of the headlines, markets reacted with relative indifference: oil prices barely moved, reflecting Venezuela's limited 1% contribution to global production. Far more consequential for sentiment were escalating tensions around the Persian Gulf, where protests across Iran reportedly resulted in thousands of deaths and raised the spectre of wider regional instability. Domestically, the US administration faced scrutiny following the deaths of two protesters in Minneapolis during ICE operations. Against this backdrop, Washington assembled a "huge armada" in pursuit of a renewed nuclear agreement with Tehran, echoing the rapid build-up seen in Venezuela weeks earlier, though the latter had been framed under the Monroe Doctrine. Tensions even spilled into the Arctic, with a diplomatic clash over Greenland's status before President Trump appeared to rule out military escalation during remarks at Davos.

Remarkably, these developments unfolded within a matter of weeks. Yet markets again opted to look through geopolitical noise, consistent with recent patterns in which investors discount hard-to-model "Trump risk" and refocus on fundamentals. In the US, representing over 70% of the MSCI World Index, fourth-quarter earnings season began strongly, with solid revenue and profit growth and broad upside surprises. The domestic economy remained resilient, inflation contained, and the Federal Reserve kept rates unchanged in January. Equity leadership broadened, with small-cap stocks outperforming by a notable margin: the Russell 2000 gained 5% versus a -0.3% return for the "Magnificent Seven". Asian markets were mixed, though Korea remained exceptional, rising 23.4% in January after an 80% surge in 2025. Emerging-market equities benefited from risk-on sentiment and continued US-dollar softness, with the DXY falling 1.4% for the month. Fixed income delivered steady if unremarkable returns, aside from sharp volatility at the long end of the Japanese curve.

Precious metals extended their rally despite a late-January correction: gold finished the month up 13%, silver 19%. While the "debasement trade" has structural appeal, such extreme moves appear difficult to reconcile with only modest dollar weakness. Markets may be underpricing broader risks, reinforcing the case for diversification and maintaining exposure to quality, at what is arguably a discount in markets today.

Impact of underlying manager costs

Underlying manager costs (per annum):

This will depend on the managers selected for inclusion in the Fund. Managers typically charge fees for investment management (which may include performance fees) and administration, among other costs.

Currently the cheapest manager costs 0.10% per annum and the most expensive manager costs 1.05% per annum. The overall cost of the current manager blend is 0.37%. The methodology for calculating these figures is described in the Total Expense Ratio footnote on page 1.

Risk warnings and important notes

Collective investments are generally medium to long-term investments. The value of units may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future. Collective investments are traded at ruling prices. Commission and incentives may be paid and, if so, would be included in the overall costs. All performance is calculated on a total return basis, after deduction of all fees and commissions and in US dollar terms. Forward pricing is used.

The Fund invests in other collective investments, which levy their own charges. This could result in a higher fee structure for the Fund.

Fluctuations in the value of the underlying funds, the income from them and changes in interest rates mean that the value of the Fund and any income arising from it may fall, as well as rise, and is not guaranteed.

Deductions of charges and expenses mean that you may not get back the amount you invested.

The fees charged within the Fund and by the managers of the underlying funds are not guaranteed and may change in the future.

Higher risk investments may be subject to sudden and larger falls in value in comparison to other investments. Higher risk investments include, but are not limited to, investments in smaller companies, even in developed markets, investments in emerging markets or single country debt or equity funds and investments in high yield or non-investment grade debt.

Notwithstanding ongoing monitoring of the underlying funds within the Fund, there can be no assurance that the performance of the funds will achieve their stated objectives.

The Fund will contain shares or units in underlying funds that invest internationally. The value of an investor's investment and the income arising from it will therefore be subject to exchange rate fluctuations.

Foreign securities may have additional material risks, depending on the specific risks affecting that country, such as: potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds; macroeconomic risks; political risks; foreign exchange risks; tax risks; settlement risks; and potential limitations on the availability of market information.

The Fund may contain shares or units in underlying funds that do not permit dealing every day. Investments in such funds will only be realisable on their dealing days. It is not possible to assess the proper market price of these investments other than on the fund's dealing days.

No borrowing will be undertaken by the Fund except for the purpose of meeting short term liquidity requirements. Borrowings will not exceed 10% of the net asset value of the Fund. For such purpose, the securities of the Fund may be pledged. No scrip borrowing will be allowed. The Cell is not permitted to enter into any form of borrowing or loan arrangement with other cells of the Company nor other collective investment schemes of the Manager.

While derivative instruments may be used for hedging purposes, the risk remains that the relevant instrument may not necessarily fully correlate to the investments in the Fund and accordingly not fully reflect changes in the value of the investment, giving rise to potential net losses.

Forward contracts are neither traded on exchanges nor standardised. Principals dealing in these markets are also not required to make markets in the currencies they trade, with the result that these markets may experience periods of illiquidity. Banks and dealers will normally act as principals and usually each transaction is negotiated on an individual basis.

The Manager has the right to close the Fund to new investors, in order to manage it more efficiently, in accordance with its mandate.

Investment in the Fund may not be suitable for all investors. Investors should obtain advice from their financial adviser before proceeding with an investment.

Investors are reminded that any forecasts and/or commentary included in this MDD are not guaranteed to occur, and merely reflect the interpretation of the public information and propriety research available to the Investment Manager at a particular point in time.
