Portfolio Managers Comment

The FG SCI Venus Cautious Fund of Funds returned +1.02% during the month of July, outperforming the benchmark peer group average, which returned +0.43%. Global financial markets experienced volatility during the month as the ceasefire between the US and Iran came to an end, pushing oil prices higher and reigniting concerns about inflation. US inflation came in significantly lower than expected at 3.5%, down from 4.2% in the previous period and well below the consensus forecast of 3.8%. US employment data was weaker than anticipated, with non-farm payrolls coming in below expectations, while the unemployment rate decreased to 4.2%, largely due to a lower labour force participation rate of 61.5%. The US Federal Reserve kept interest rates unchanged at 3.5% to 3.75%. However, neither the accompanying statement nor the subsequent press conference provided clear guidance on the Fed's future policy direction, unsettling markets. Locally, South African inflation rose sharply to 5.0% from 4.5% in the previous month, significantly higher than market expectations of 4.7%. The South African Reserve Bank (SARB) unexpectedly left interest rates unchanged at its meeting in the final week of July. This decision surprised markets, particularly given the higher-than-expected inflation reading released two days earlier, as well as the renewed surge in oil prices following the re-escalation of the US-Iran conflict during the month. Local listed bonds (FTSE/JSE All Bond Index), came under pressure during the month, returning -1.38%. Local listed property (SAPY) was the best-performing asset class, returning 2.30%. Local listed equities (FTSE/JSE All Share Index) outperformed emerging market equities, with the MSCI Emerging Markets Index declining by 3.03%, while the local market returned 1.18%. The Abax Opportunity Fund (Nedgroup) was the best performing underlying fund, returning +3.87% for the month. The decision was made over the month to switch a portion of the Fairtree SA Equity Prescient Fund into the Satrix ALSI Tracker Fund. The decision was also made to switch the total position from the Matrix SCI Stable Income Fund and split the proceeds between the Visio FR Unconstrained Fixed Interest Fund and the Matrix SCI Enhanced Income Fund.
